TO PREVENT A SPLIT

No Second Democratic Ticket in New York Now Expected.

PRINCIPAL OBJECT OF THE LEADERS

Believed That the Naming of Conservative Men at Buffalo and the Endorsement of the Chicago Platform Will Satisfy Both Factions.

Buffalo, Sept. 18.—The outcome of the democratic state convention was not much of a surprise to those who had been following the trend of polilies for the past few weeks. While the work was completed in one short session, which was not at all times altogether harmonious, there was no serious hitch at any stage of the proceedings, and in one sweeping sentence the Chicago platform and nominees were endorsed. The nomination of John Boyd Thacher, mayor of Albany, for governor on the first ballot, was a victory for the regular organization, as Mr. Thacher was repeatedly denounced as a gold bug and an enemy of all that the Chicago platform stands for. His name was received with applause, while his chief opponent, William Sulzer of New Yor, was cheered on every possible occasion. Wilbur P. Porter of Watertown, who was placed in nomination for governor, was named for second place on the ticket without opposition. Judge Robert C. Titus was nominated for judge of the court of appeals. Senator Hill and his workers never lost control of the convention for a moment, though several attempts were made to stampede the delegates to Sulzer. The organization rolled over all opposition, and though strong protests against naming a gold man on a silver platform were made the programme mapped out by the conference at Senator Hill's house went through without a serious hitch.

May Prevent a Second Ticket. The naming of conservative men instead of extreme silverites will, it is claimed by leaders, prevent the placing of a second democratic ticket in the field by the national democracy when their convention is held in Brooklyn on September 24. If this result is reached the threatened split of the democratic party in this state is probably averted. The leaders apparently had this in view when they put forward Mayor Thacher and opposed all candidates who were antagonistic to Messrs. Shepai I. Fairchild and other members of the sound money democracy. The platform and the pledges of support to Bryan and Sewall is expected to overcome the objections of extreme silver men to the candidates named and the endorsement of the Chicago platform is tempered by the naming of Thucher for governor. There were many charges made in the state committee and C'Hott Danforth succeeded Jumes W. Hakley as chairman. No action was taken upon the resignation of

SHIPS FOR TURKISH WATERS.

Reports from England That They Will Try To Force the Bosphoras Denled, Washington, Sept. 18 -Officials of the state and navy departments decline to assume from the reports published in England that there can be any idea seriously entertained there that American warships are to force the Bosphorus in conjunction with the British squadron. While the Bancroft is to become eventually, it is hoped, the American guardship at Constantinople. the size and armament of the American cruisers in the Mediterranean is declared to be unsuited for any hostile participation in operations against such famous fortifications as command the Dardan-lles. In order to correct the impression that our fleet in Turkish waters is to be materially augmented by the cruiser Cincinnati, which is to ail from Tomkinsville to-morrow, the navy department has made public the following orders issued from the navy department to the commanding officer of the Cincinnati: "Sir-The vessel under your command is hereby detached from the north Atlantic station, and you will proceed with her, not later than the 19th inst., at the most economical rate of speed, to Gibraltar. Upon your arrival there report to the commander-in-chief of the European station for duty in the squadron under his command."

A Report That France Will Surrender Him to England.

EXECUTVIE AT DUBLIN TAKES ACTION

The Alleged Antwerp Bomb Factory Said To Have Contained Half a Ton of Explosives --- Bell, the New Yorker, Remanded,

London. Sept. 18.—The executive at Dublin has instituted proceedings for the extradition of P. J. Tynan, in custody at Boulogne-sur-Mer, France, on the charge of having been connected with the Phoenix park murders. A Brussels dispatch says that enough material has been seized at the resort of the suspects arrested at Antwerp to manufacture a ton of dynamite. The Times, in the course of its discussion on the extradition of Tynan, says that there is no doubt that the extradition treaty with France would be retroactive and could be be made to cover the Phoenix park murders, for which there is a fair chance. that extradition would be granted. But the Times expresses doubt whether the treaty would cover the case of a culprit in a fresh dynamite conspiracy. The Chronicle quotes ra well-informed Irish correspondent." who declares that Tynan is not the genuine "Number 1," but only a braggart was posed as such. "He has been in London." declares the Chronicle, "within a year. Why was he not arrested then? It is quite unlikely that the foreign office will press very hard for his extradition as the prosecution he would have might lead to very embarrassing disclosures." The Chronicle's Paris correspondent says: "The fact that Tynan fought against Germany in 1870 is likely to weigh in his favor with the French authorities." Edward Bell, the alleged Irish dynamiter, recently arrested at Glasgow, was arraigned at Bow street police court yesterday. He is described as Edward Bell, alias Edward J. Ivory, an American and a hotel keeper of 211 Lexington avenue. New York. Bell is accused of conspiring with others to cause an explosion in the United Kingdom. After formal evidence of his arrest had been given by the police he was remanded for a week and was removed to Holloway jail late last Aided by a New York Detective.

London, Sept. 15.—It having become known here through cable dispatches that the New York police disavowed any knowledge of the dynamite conspiracy having been started in New York, and denied that they had given any information to the British police that would have led to the arrest of Tynan and his fellow plotters, a representative of the United Associated Presses sought to learn from where. utside of their regular agents, the po-Ace here kept so well informed of the movements of the conspirators in New York. Last night he was informed by a gentleman who knows the inside facts of the case that the doings in New York of the alleged dynamiters were watched by Charles Heidelberg, an ex-member of the staff of former Superintendent of Police Byrnes. He was in Antwerp last week. presumably in connection with the conspiracy. but came to England at the end of the week, and on Saturday sailed for New York. He is a passenger on the American line steamer St. Louis.

Tyman Relies on France for His Saftey, Paris, Sept. 18.—A dispatch from Boulogne-sur-Mer states that Tynan has refused legal assistance, saying that he relies upon the French government for his safety. It has been learned that the vessel on which Tynan salled from New York was bound for Mediterranean ports. She touched at tiibraltar, where Tynan obtained special leave to visit part of the fortress.

British Brig Nearly Run Down by a Big Ocean Liner.

AN EXCITING EXPERIENCE IN A FOG

The Big Monster Headed Directly for the Frail Craft---Passed Close Enough for the Frightened Sailors To Touch Her Sides.

Boston, Sept. 18.-The British brig Doris, Capt. E. G. Gerhardt, came into port last evening from Ponce, Porto Rico, after one of the most narrow escapes from being sunk by an ocean liner ever recorded. The captain says last Monday evening when eight miles to the westward of Nantucket Shoal lighthouse, during a light fog, we were suddenly apprised of the approach of a large steamer by hearing the swish of her propeller. Hardly had the sound come to us when, through the mist, we saw the big steamer approaching, headed directly for us, and apparently going to strike us amidships I made hasty preparations for the safety of my crew, as I feared the steamer would sink us. We were standing directly in to the northnorthwest with the wind so light that it could searcely move us. On came the steamer, which we momentarily expected would doom our little craft, but as she drew near us she swerved just a little and passed by our stern so close that she carried away our patent log and left some of the paint from her bow on the log line. The steamer was the Westernland (Belg.). Japt. Mills, bound from Antwerp for New York, and as she passed close enough to touch her side we could see the excited faces of her passer gers and crew peering over the side at us.

TEXAS NOT INJURED

The Big Battleship Grounded Only on a Sand Bar.

NO COURT MARTIAL

The Machinist in Charge at the Time Admits That He Is Responsible Having Misunderstood

the Signals.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The navy department has received a detailed statement from Captain Glass regarding the grounding and floating of the battleship Texas at the mouth of the harbor at Newport, R. I. According to the official report the Texas did not strike a rock, but went ashore on a sandy bottom and is apparently not injured in the least. It took four tugs to pull her off, but this work was accomplished after half an hour's steady strain. The battleship was hard and fast aground for about eight hours. It was at first supposed that she had struck upon a ledge and was fast amidships, but this was found to be a mistake by a diver who went down to inspect her hull soon after she struck. The point at which she struck was a sandy ridge between the ledges which abound in the vicinity, hence she was not punetured, nor was she badly bruised, but there was great danger that she would be strained as the tide receded, it having been about half ebb when she struck. According to the official statement the battleship settled easily into the bar as the water receded, and it is thought she suffered comparatively no damage. A thorough inspection of the hull will, however, be made and the exact condition of the vessel reported

Aside from the statement given out: by the press concerning a mistake in orders in the engineer's room, Capt. Glass has nothing to say about the accident. It appears, however, that his orders were prompt and effective. When it became apparent that the Texas was fast, an attempt to use the port_anchor as a lever having been found useless, tugs were at once ordered to the assistance of the helpless vessel. The Aquidneck, one of the liveliest tugboats. was alonside in thirty minutes. A few pulls at the towline proved that one small craft could do nothing towards moving the tons of steel which were imbedded in the sand. Meanwhile the tide had fallen so rapidly that the bow of the hattleship was well out of the water. The only thing to be done was to wait for the next tide.

Machinist Accepts the Elame.

An examination made soon after the warship was floated and the divers reported her intact. No water had cound its way into the interior and the anter hall was pronounced uninjured. The work of shipping her torpedo outfit, for which purpose she came to this port, was then begun. It is stated hut there will be no need of a court martial to determine the responsibility. The machinist in charge of the reversbg gear admits that the blame is his. is he misunderstood the signals.

REMARKABLE OLD MAN.

Dr. John Vedder's Life Reads Like a Romance.

He Is the Oldest Living Locomotive Engineer and Now Lives in the Oldest House in St. Augustine, Fia.

[Special St. Augustine (Fla.) Letter 1 In quaint old St. Augustine, in Florida, one may live the gayest life that modern luxuries afford, and yet, walking a few blocks hence, pass entirely from the scene of extravagant elegance into the storied days of the past, when the hard pioneer braved the terrors of the frontier life. Here, in this town, are still standing many specimens of the old Spanish coquina houses. It is in one of these that a most interesting character lives all alone. He is Dr. John Vedder, the oldest living locomotive engineer in America.

Treasury street is the narrowest street in the town. It measures barely six feet, and is associated in the minds of the Minoreans with many stories of those terrible days when their forefathers were brought there as slaves to the Spaniards. At the corner of Treasury and Bay street is Dr. John Vedder's solitary home. The date of its erection is not known, but students of the chronology of St. Augustine affirm that it is one of the oldest, if not the oldest house in the city. The very thick walls are formed of coquina quarried from Anastasia island. The house faces the sea, and the beveled projection extending between two and three feet from the base of the front wall appears to bear evidence of the fact that it was built before the original coquina sea wall, which was constructed in der to the Baldwin works for 12 locomotives. Four-Nos. 9, 10, 11 and 13-were used in the division out of Syracuse. The first train was run in this system July 4, 1839, and created a wonderful excitement throughout the country. Locomotive No. 12 was in the winter of '39 and '40 used as a snow plow and was in my charge. This was, undoubtedly, the first snow-plow locomotive in regular work handled in America.

It is assumed that, previous to that time, such projections were built as a

"In 1841 and 1842, I had constructed a sand-box after my own ideas. I am nearly positive that the first sand-box lever I had adopted was one similar to that now in use. While handling locomotive No. 11, I noticed that whenever I would wish to use the sand, and pull the lever, the sand would run down through a faucet outside of the box, and fly over the machinery. I thought the problem over and over, and finally persuaded the company to adopt my suggestion for having the valves inside of the box, connected with a rod from the cab. As I wander over the space of time, I cannot help wondering at the rapid and magnificent strides made by railway companies in the perfecting of locomotion, since I manipulated the throttle,"

While a resident of Schencetady, Dr. Vedder was elected alderman of the committee on land and buildings.

The doctor has been married twice and though now a widower the second time, and 78 years old, he is still a fine looking man, with silky white har and beard and full blue eyes-as bright and clear as those any man of 35 would be proud of. It would not be at all surprising to his friends to hear that he again anticipated matrimonial bl'ss, for he is honized by widows who visit the "Anciente Citie."

Some years ago, while in his son'study, Mr. Vedder took it into his head that he would be a dentist. So he applied himself to his books, and without other instruction soon wor the title of "doctor," and was praeticing reguprotection against the tides. Dr. John Vedder was born in Schenec tady, N. Y., July 22, 1819, coming from an ancestral line of the carliest Dutch settlers on the Hudson. The Vedders settled at Schenectady before the French and Indian war, and the story goes that Nicholas Vedder, of "Rip Van Winkle" fame, was a character of this same Vedder family. He is an uncle of Elihu J. Vedder, the famous American artist, who spends much time in Rome.

Dr. Vedder started out very young on his active career. At the age of 20 he worked successfully at five trades, be ing a blacksmith, moulder, brass founder, machinist and locomotive engineer. He was never an apprentice, as he aiways received pay for his services. Tive days is the longest time he has ever

In talking of his boyhood days, Dr. Vedder laughed as he related that he "stole" his trade. Employed in his father's shops at Schenectady, he learned smithing and moulding. Through a friend who worked in a brass foundry he learned the principles of proportion in the making of bell metal. By applying this knowledge to his experiments he soon became an expert brass worker. As an employe in the repair shops of the Utica & Syracuse radical he learned to be a machinist, and in 45.0 and 40 ian the first snow glow between Utica and Syraense. In an interview with Dr. Vedder, he said: "I had the honor of handling, as engineer, one of the first locomotives built in this country. The first locomotive built by the Baldwin locomotive works was for the Schenectady & Utica railroad. When that road was completed to Syraense, in 1839, this company gave ap or-

ed. He practiced dentistry for several years, until his health failed, and then went south to recuperate.

Ever since he has resided in the land of flowers, following the dentist profession until his office was burned in one of the conflagrations that have visited St. Augustine.

He then bought the old Spanish landmark in which be still lives. In 1276 he began the study of taxidermy and made his own collection for a natural history exhibit. Now he is an acknowledged authority on that subject, and has the finest collection of live an maland birds, Indan relics, mounted fish, reptiles, crustaceans, etc., in Florida.

There is still another interesting phase of this man's life, and that is his military career. At 16 years of age, he enlisted in a military company under Capt. Platt Potter, and advanced from corporal to sergeant, to ensign, and, as 20, was in command of the Governor' guards at Schenectady. Being an expert in manual exercises, he was chosen by the colonel fugleman and instructor for the general parade.

Dr. Vedder, with all his practiability is quite sentimental and religious. He belongs to the Dutch Reformed Church of the East, and the sadd stand most serious moments for him are those when he recalls the lessons taught at the side of his mother, who died when he was a boy of nine, yet whose shered memory still lives in the bely-of holies in an old man's heart. Dawn in an African Village.

I slept in a house belonging to the African Lakes company, a creepy sort of habitation at night. Rats galore raced about the roof, chasing one another, and squealing most piteously. I was awakened in the morning by cocks crowing. There was a hush of night insects; the houses in the dawning light were an indistinct, dull brown, the grass was wet with dew. I heard the shuffling of reed doors slid to one side, or their grating on clay flooring when flung open. A few natives began to appear, exchange morning greetings, and start to blow up fires; men, women and children crowd around the fires, the gilded clouds in the east withdraw, the sun peeps on the horizon, fires are soon described, and daily work begins .--From the Journals of the late E. J. Glave, in Century.

A Kiwi in San Francisco.

A sailor who recently reached San Francisco brought with him from New Zealand a kiwi, or wingless apterys. The bird is about the size of a common chicken, but lays an egg weighing 12 ounces, one-fourth as large as the bird. Ordinarily the apteryx lives on worms and bugs, but the sailor had taught his specimen to subsist on a meat diet.

GALLOPING BILL'S ESCAPE.

Lets Loose a Nest of Hornets to Torment

the Would-Be Lynchers

Man and horse looked like an equestrian statue at the edge of a dense forest. The bay of the bloodhounds in hot pursuit came from the wooded depths. When they dashed into the open with an armed posse clattering at their heeis, the man threw up his hands in token of surrender.

"That's the hoss, boys, an' thar's the thievin' varmint astraddle on 'im." said the leader. "He's Gallopin' Bill, the cantanherest cuss in th' nor'west. We'll jest make a lasso kernection atween his neck an' a stout lim', lead th' hoss from under him an' leave him ter look out for hisself."

When they had dirmounted the man whose doom had been pronounced whirled his steed with marvelous quickness, made a swinging motion with his right arm, dropped his head to the withers of the gallant black stud and once more sped toward the mountain fastnesses where there was security.

The howling hounds rolled in the grass, raked their sides against the trees and then tore away in search of water into which they might plunge. The horses madly broke from all restraint, kicked, bit, frantically switched their tails and went crashing like hunted bucks through the thickest unlerbrush. The members of the posse -cattered in hot haste, roaring maledictions, cursing with frontier fluency, tearing their hair, rending their clothnor and beating themselves with their hands as they leaped and yelled. Their heads were like those of a poisoned supand their bodies like a cranberry patch. As Galloping Bill turned he had struck the long nest above him. The Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted neeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and singgish and the need of a totic and alterative is telt. AIM OF EDUCATION. It is to Teach Our Youth How to Live

Nothing Lens. Perhaps we shall the sooner see our mark by first clearing the ground a little and disclaiming some of the ends proposed for education. My own list of unadmitted ends is somewhat long. I do not, for example, set as the object for education a good extizen, a successful breadwinner, a wise father, an expert mechanic, en adroit versifier, a keen lawyer, an eloquent preacher, a skillful physician, a learn d professor, a prosperous be good enough in themselves. I do not discuss the question. But they are not the proper end of education. And they are not, because they are secondary, minor, special ends. They are not the major ends in life, though they are often mistaken for such. We are pretty far from the mark when we mistake for education any training which has a partial and special end in view. To erect any one of these ends into the end and declare it to be the goal of educarion is to fall by the wayside and deliberately to turn one's face away from

The end in education should be the major end. It should be the very biggest thing in life, the most general and far-reaching good the mind can formulate. We cheat ourselves, we cheat the children, if we express the end in terms any less catholic than this. It may include good citizenship, wise parenthood, successful bread-winning, literary or technical skill, but it is not any one of these things. The greatest thing in life is life—life in its fullness and totality. It is this that education should set its face toward. Its end should be wholeness, integrity, and nothing less than this. It is fallse to its mission if it turn aside into any of the bypaths of convenience, of industry, or even of accomplishment and erudition.—Dr. C. H. Henderson, in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly.

A PLENUS OF HATES.

The Why of the Strained Relations of the Five Great Powers.

There are in Europe five great powers -England, France, Germany, Russia and Austria-who all hate each other cordially, although they make alliances between themselves whenever expediency suggests agreement.

England hates France because they are rivals for the supremacy of the world; England hates Germany because she is irritated by her presumption and her trade competition; England hates Russia because of the distant east; England hates Austria because she is not England.

France hates England because it has been the duty of England to put a peiod to the glory of all other great monarchs: France hates Germany with a racial hate; France hates Russia because the two peoples are so essentially made to disagree: France hates Austria because she always has hated her.

Germany hates England because England was great before she existed, and will be great when she in her present form shall have ceased to exist; Germany hates France because she fears her: Germany hates Russia because fate decrees that these two nations shall cut each other's throats; German hates Austria because she I nows Austria does not luve ber.

Russia hates England because of the future: Russia hates France because of the past: Russia hates Germany beanse of the present; Russia hates Austria for every conceinable reason.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 18, 1896.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice-President, ARTHUR SEWALL, of Maine.

Some people are puzzled to know what has become of the millions of gold recently imported. Only a small part of it appears in the treasury reserve and the bank statements show that little of it is in their hands. There is no escape from the conclusion that it is being hourded for use in bond purchases if McKinley is elected and the national honor continued in the keeping of syndicates.

John Boyd Thacher as State Senator, as Mayor of Albany and in other prominent public places, has proved his ability, his courage and his integrity. He is a successful business man, a ripe scholar, a man of affairs in the best and broadest sense. He possesses the qualities of moderation, dignity and fairness that are needed in a Governor and which are conspicuouly lacking in his competitor. He ought to be elected and he will be elected if so called Democrats who have abanboned their party on national issues do not carry their disloyalty to the extent of conspiring to defeat the State ticket.

The people have "caught on" to the true inwardness of the pilgrimages workingmen are making to McKinley at Canton. Not one in ten of the pilgrims pays his own way. Hanua's campaign fund is drawn on for the expense of the trips, McKinley exploits his protection platitudes and the country is told how much more dignified is his course than that of Bryan, who goes to the people instead of having a few of the people sent to him-From the standpoint of honest and straightforward politics these McKinley pilgrimages are the sorriest kind of farce

The Albany Argns, which is not in sympathy with the Democratic national platform and is not supporting Bryan and Sewall, is anxious, however, for the election of a Democratic Governor in this State, and to that end appeals to John Boyd Thacher to so frame his letter of acceptance and define his position as to make his nomination acceptable to all Democrats. The Argus thinks that if Mr. Thacher confines himself to State issues and makes his campaign on them alone he will receive the support of all who call themselves Democrats. We ease, but greatly fear that the Argus underestimates the new convertical of some of the Democrats who have gone over to the enemy, and fails to realize the maleyolence which they feel toward the party which they find themselves unable to

A CHILDREN'S PARTY.

Madeline Evans Entertaining Her Young Triends.

Little Madeline, daughter of Rector Evans, is giving a party, this afternoon, at her home on Houston avenue, to about twenty of her little friends. There is lots of amusment for the little folls among other things the performing pigs from Midway, and Asa Rifenbary's pony cart which is kept busy carrying little folks around the block. There will be a fine supper over which the young hosress will preside and before the party breaks up, Evans the photographer, will take a group picture of the party. One can imagine the value these pictures will have a few years hence when the members of the group have become men and

"WHAT NEXT?"

Unlucky Rudolph's Question Answered by Another Crushed Finger.

Yesterday we recited some of the recent mishaps of J. R. Kirelmer and quoted him as asking: "What next?" His question was not long in being answered, for last night he attempted to tap a barrel of ale and again his game linger went back on him, the larrel slipped and roll d against another barrel, the third finger of his left hand being caught between the bulges of the two barrels and crushed in much the same way as was the finger on the other hand between two balls in the bowling alley. Well, what next?

BRYAN IN NORTH CAROLINA. Gratified That New York Democrate Endorsed the Platform.

BY UNITED PRESS. Goldsboro, Sept. 18.—Вгуан spoke here, to-day, to 4,000 people.

In his speech he referred to various Democratic State conventions in the east, including New York, endorsing the Chicago platform and said, "In these and other eastern States Democracy is beginning to realize that the Chiengo platform presents the American people those great issues around which the people must cluster if they are going to retain government of, by and for the people," After his speech he said to a representative of the United Press Association: "I am very much gratified that the New York convention endorsed the platform as well as the ticket.

SILVER DEBATE AT THE FAIR.

Hisses for the Gold Advocate's Jibes at Bryan-Mr. St. John's Able Presentation of the Silver Cause.

Newburgh, N. Y., Sept. 18.-At the Orange county fair here yesterday the silver question was discussed. Several thousand persons were present. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. William K. Hall. Henry Austin Adams argued against free silver and William P. St. John, treasurer of the democratic national committee, advocated unlimited coinage. Each spoke one hour. Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn pronounced the benediction

Several Middletown gentlemen were present and heard the debate. They say the audience was very largely made up of farmers, but that all present manilested the deepest interest.

Mr. Adams spoke first and began to crack jokes at the expense of the Democratic party, which amused some who were in sympathy with him. He got off the stock arguments of the gold bugs, but they fell flat, because they had all been read over and over again. He then began to abuse Wm. J. Bryan and those who believe as he does, but was greatly surprised when those who came to hear argument showed their displeasure by

He then said that he had made a study of the financial question for the past twelve years and was led to do so by the directors of the Commercial Nawish that we could believe this to be the | tional Bank in New York, of which he was president, and that the result of his investigation as reported to the bank made his resignation necessary, and then proceeded in a deliberate way without the least attempt at oratory to state his convictions upon the currency question.

Mr. St. John was listened to for over an hour with the deepest attention. There was no display of enthusiasm, but every man remained until he had closed, apparently anxious to graspevery word, and then he was heartily applauded.

There is little doubt of the effect of these two addresses upon an intelligent Orange county audience. Stale jokes and personal abuse will not take the place of arguments this year.

A regular meeting of the Common Council was held night, present President Dorrance and Aldermen Abrams, Bowler, Hirst, Mance, Reed. Funnell and Sinsa-

After the minutes were read Mr. Mance said that in the minutes of the meeting of Aug. 21, a resolution is recorded ordernue by the Engineer and that work be done by the Superintenpent of streets, but the Mayor had ordered the Street Superintendent to run a plow through the street and that was all that had been done, and he wanted to know about it. A discussion ensued, but Mr. Red claimed that discussion was out of order, and the minutes were approved.

Mr. Mance then asked what was to be done in such cases. Resolutions are work ordered is done in an entirely differerent way by the Mayor'≈order. No one seemed to know.

Even this did not throw any light upon the vexed question, and the Sprague avenue, Myrtle, Benton and Grand avenues and even the Draper Brook sewer and a Myrtle avenue sewer ver to be built, became sadly entangled with each other and these and the resolutions of the Board of Health recommending and that of the Council ordering the sewers were all mixed up in the brains of the Mayor, Aldermen and attorney and engineer.

A WONDERLAND.

Facts and Guesses About the Roraima Mountains.

A Mysterious Country Near the Schom burgk Line in Venezuela-Surmises as to the Flora and Fauna of the Region.

Perhaps one result of the Venezuela boundary commission's work will be the solving of the most remarkable geographical enigmas in the world and the exploration of what is regarded as a unique natural wonderland. This remarkable region is a number of elevated and isolated areas of land, situated on what the British call British Guiana's southwestern boundary, which is in the disputed territory. It is on the British side of the Schomburgk line. A British Guiana newspaper describes this region. as far as it is known, and expresses the hope that the final settlement of the boundary controversy will leave it well within British bounds. Should there be another result, however, the newspaper says, the region should be made an international park, comething on the plan of the Yellowstone park reserva-

The region is called by the Indians "Roraima," but the several isolated arcus are known by distinctive names. Each consists of what might be called an isolated mountain, but is really a table-land, comprising an area of 100 or more square miles, elevated several thousand feet above the surrounding country. The rocky sides of the mountains are as perpedicular as the Hudson river palisades and entirely bare of vegetation, and have defied all attempts to scale them. The level summits are covered with trees and other vegetation, and down the rocky sides fall a large number of easeades of considerable size. indicating the certain existence of rivers and streams on the mysterious summits, and probably of lakes that feed the rivers. The summits have been observed with telescopes, and are known to be as full of plant life as the tropical plains below, but beyond this nothing is known.

Because so little is known of the condition of these table-lands occasion is given for all manner of speculation as to what exists there. That the vegetation is quite different from that on the plains below the telescope shows; and that it should be so is quite natural, as the table-lands are 2,000 or more feet higher than the plains. While the climate of the plains is tropical, that of the table-lands must be temperate, not only because of their elevation, but because of the free play the winds have about

Of the geology of the region this explanation is given: This part of South America rose slowly from the sca, through successive and remote ages. The Roraima mountains were formed precisely as was the rest of the land, and are not the result of volcanic action. Hence they must have been above the ocean before the surrounding plains appeared. They stood 2,000 feet above the level of the sea when the neighbor ing tops were but islands in the occan In the course of a period difficult to apperciate the adjacent valleys and plains appeared above the water and became covered with vegetation and animal life. But the isolated plateaus of Roraima had a tremendous start of the plains below. Here comes the alleged ground for the speculation that perhaps on these mysterious summits there exists flora and fauna unlike any found elsewhere, forms of Ule that long since disappeared from other parts of the world, but remained the same on these summats, because unaffected by the inthences of communication with the outer world. All sorts of wild guesses have been hazzarded regarding the evistence of strange reptiles and animals among the streams and forests of Remima.

The coscades falling from the summits the among the highest in the world. One is 2,660 feet high and is broad enough to be visible 30 miles away. It falls sheer, without a break The mountains from which these cascades fall form the dividing watersheds of the Amazon, the Orineco and the Essequibo, the three great rivers of South America, and the waters of the cascades flow some to one and some to another of these rivers. It is argued that to supply these waterfulls there must be a considerable body of water on the mountain plateaus, and it is natural to conclude that where there are large bodies of water there are fish and reptiles. The resulting conclusion that, because these fish and reptiles must have been isolated on the mountain tops for ages, they are likely to be different from any known species, is regarded as quite natural. The mountain plateaus form practically little countries by themselves, like islands, but more isolated, because the ocean of air that surrounds them does not afford the facilities for communication with other islands as do the waters of the occan itelf.

One of the plateaus, known as Kukenham, which is better situated for observation than any of the others, is estimated to have an area of 200 square miles or more. The smallest, which bears the name common to the group, Rorainea, is estimated to contain 80 to 140 square miles.

The story of the mysterious region is not new, at least to Unitish Guiana. It is many years since any scientific men were in the region, but chance travelers and gold prospectors happen there at add times, and when they return to Demension they edd their little store of information and mystification to the rest. - N. V. Sum.

Famous Liberal-Unionist Load r Now in America.

His Wife, Fermerly Miss Endleott, of Salem, Mass., Accompanies flim-"Joey's" Remarkably Lively Political Record.

Right Hon, Joseph Chamberlain and his American wife are now "in our midst," Mrs. Chamberlain, as everybody knows, was Miss Endicott, of Salem-of the Endicotts, of course.

Everybody in America is always glad to see Mr. Chamberlain, says the New York Herald. His marriage to Miss Endicott caught the popular favor immensely, although he is not a nobleman or broken down, or even the son of a broken-down nobleman. He was middle-aged widower when he married and the son of a very middle-class provincial family. He had been "in trade" himself-fancy! All the aristocracy in this case was on the American bride's

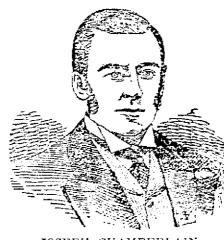

You wouldn't think it to see him, or if you can't see him, to see his pictures, but Mr. Chamberlain is 60 years old He was born in London in 1836, and his father was a city man, actually a member of a city company.

Joseph-he is sometimes called "Joey" by political enemies-had good schooling, but he is not a university man. He went into a firm of wood screw makers. Nettlefold & Chamberlain, when he was a young man, but 22 years ago he retired from business and went into politics.

At this time all his reputation was founded on the radical ideas he had expressed with great fluency at debating societies in Birmingham. He was a dreadful radical in those days.

Once in politics, he made swift progress with the Birmingham "rads." He was alderman one term, and mayor of the borough three, and then he ran for parliament (in 1874), and was most beautifully beaten in a three-cornered fight. But two years later he had better luck.

Since then "Joey" has been pretty constantly in the public eye. He has advocated all sorts of reforms in the house of commons, generally without success, but always with daring if not address. On the formation of Mr. Gladstone's cabinet, in 1880, he was nominated president of the board of trade

During this administration Mr. Chamberlnin was still an advanced radical. but after the formation of Mr. Cladstone's cabinet of 1886 he found hims: If unable to agree with the Grand Old Man, and resigned his billet as president of the bond government board. Then be turned unionist, and ever stace he has been the storm center of a cyelone of political criticisms.

But he has held his own. As the bitterest opponent of all his old political friends he has been as successful as when he was their ally. His dectrine is that unionism, in order to remain a cower in politics, should abandon its merely negative policy and do something, and some time, maybe, it will. Mr. Chamberlain came to the United States in 1557 as chairman of the fisheries commission. He came back in 1883 to sign the treaty and marry Miss Endicott, whom he had met during his first visit. The wedding was on November

Emperor of the Nursery.

After all, the empress of Germany is not without spirit, as an ancedote of Poultney Elgelow Mustrates. He presented the emperor with the cause in which he had taken his trip down the Danabe, and she emperor had enthusinstically declared that all his boys should be canocists. Later the enpress spoke to Bigelow on the subject of canoes, and he lannehed into a narrative of the glaries of shooting foaming rapids. Her majesty frowned. "That is too dangerous," she ar nounced. "I shall never allow my children in a canoe," "But," presisted Digelow, "the emperor has already given his consent." "Oh, that may be," she said, with the sweetest of smiles in the direction of her hurband. "He may be emperor of Germany, but I am emperor of the nursery."

Uzar Alexander's Little Joke. Mr. W. S. Harwood contributes to

St. N'cholas a sketch of Jeseph Francis. the inventor of the life-boat. Mr. Harwood says: He had been received one day by the ezar at dinner. The ezar was fond of witnessing experiments with new inventions, and Mr. Francis was asked out into a room opening from a conservatory where an inventor with some new-rangled force-pump was going to give an exhibition. After they had seen the pump, the ezar took hold of the nozzle of the pipe and turned it in the direction of the ladies of the court, who were in the conservatory. Winking to Mr. Francis, the ezar, in mischief, gave them a slight sprinkling, begging pardon afterward for his awkwardness.

The general belief among doctors is that consumption itself is very rarely inherited. But the belief is becoming stronger that the tendency to consumption is very generally transmitted from parent to child. If there has been consumption in the family, each member should take special care to prepare the system against it. Live out doors; keep the body well nourished; and treat the first indication of failing health.

Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is a fatproducing food and nervetonic. Its use is followed by improved nutrition, richer blood, stronger nerves and a more healthy action of all the organs. It strengthens the power of the body to resist disease. If you have inherited a tendency to weak lungs, shake it off.

SCOTT'S EMULSION has been indorsed by the endical profession for twenty years. (Ask your dector.) This is because it is always falctable—always uniform-always contains the purest Norwegian Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites.

Put up in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes. The small size may be enough to cure your cough or help your baby. All druggists.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases, put together, and until the last lew years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years, doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, there ore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by Γ Chency & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful.
